

Construction underway!

Thanks to a large bequest, we were able to purchase a plot of land about a mile south of Varanasi proper, right next to a poor community. We are now building a school there that will allow us to educate children up to 12th grade. We are scheduled to open at the new location in June 2023. Additional funds will allow us to build a separate multipurpose hall.

Asha Deep Vidyashram

providing hope through education

Because we believe that education is the key to long-term change, we created Asha Deep Vidyashram, a school especially for the children of illiterate parents in Varanasi, India.

With a conscious effort to maintain an atmosphere of cooperation and compassion, our team of instructors teaches about 200 underprivileged students in classes ranging from kindergarten to 8th grade.

We believe that every person, irrespective of their social or economic background, deserves equal rights and an education that enables them to live with dignity.

We strive to help each child reach their full potential by educating them holistically, attending to their physical, social, emotional, and academic development.

This means teaching the arts.

This means filling their stomachs.

This means physical training.

This means spreading joy.

This means feeding their minds.
